Saint Leo Gets Starstruck

Kate Bristol
Assistant Editor

Recently, Saint Leo College was invaded by camera crews and movie stars. Despite the parking problems and minor class disruptions, most students and faculty still found themselves starstruck. Student Katie Sewell said, "My math class left the door open just in case Cuba Gooding, Jr. walked by!"

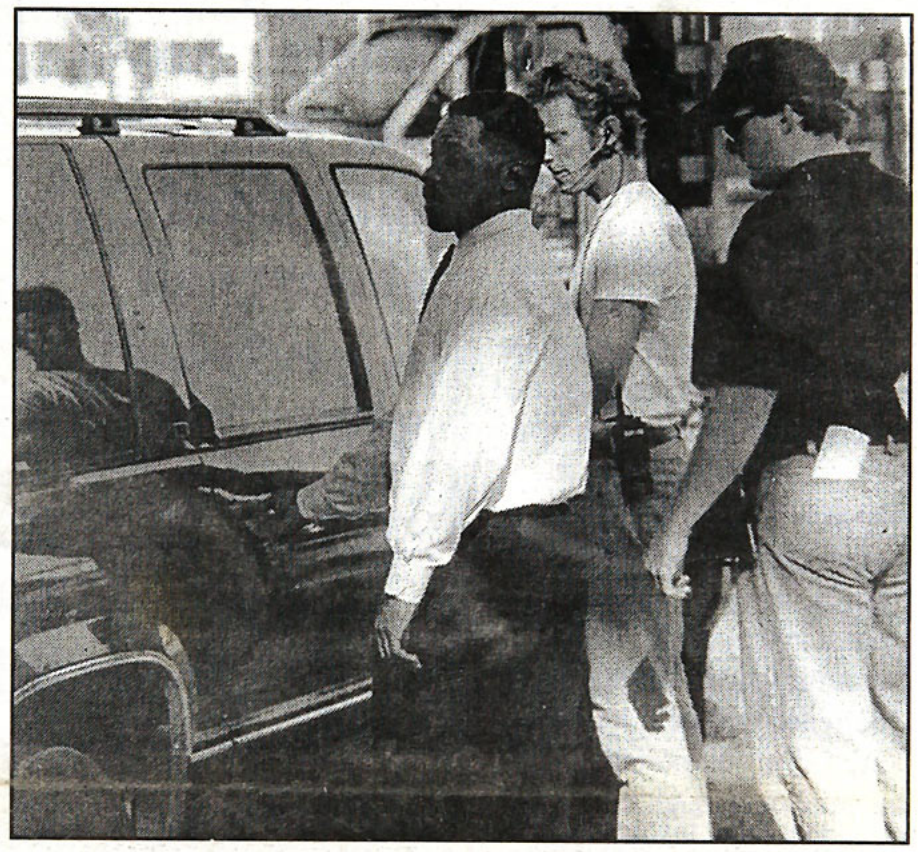
Cuba Gooding, Jr. granted the newspaper a short interview in which he commented, "I love Saint Leo, and the people here are fantastic!" Gooding, Donald Sutherland, and Anthony Hopkins are currently filming Instict, a drama about a psychologist (Gooding) who is attempting to decide if a scientist (Hopkins) accused of murder is sane. Donald Sutherland plays the psychologist's mentor.

This is not the first time Gooding and Sutherland have worked together. They also starred together in Outbreak.

According to the Pasco Times, Selby Auditorium was chosen over two other possible sites because of the unique seating angle in the auditorium. The movie is being produced by Disney and is slated to reach theaters this Christmas.

The filming took place during a long bout of rainy weather due to El Nino. Gooding commented on Florida's inclement weather by jokingly saying, "I don't know how you guys do it, but the way you keep the rain away!"

Student Larry Scott said, "It's really exciting to have such famous people on campus. It breaks up the everyday routine."



Assistant Editor Kate Bristol Interviewing Cuba Gooding, Jr.

Mr. Scott Stuart, the Best Boy member of the production crew, said, "The actors in this film are really great to work with, and Anthony Hopkins is a really down-to-earth guy."

Donald Sutherland was unavailable for an interview. The project's next stop is the Orlando Airport.

Baseball Preview

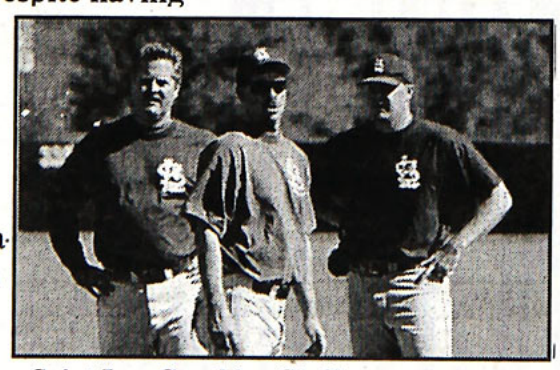
This season, be careful parking in the parking lot behind Beniot and Henderson Halls. There is a possibility of a lot of broken windows as this year's baseball team takes the field. Six seniors return to a line-up that led the Sunshine State Conference (SSC) last year with a .345 team batting average. Led by senior outfielder Matt Gifford this years team looks to finish strong in the division and make it to the play-offs. "We have a shot, and we're not counting ourselves out," new coach Ed Stabile said of his hopes for the play-offs.

Despite having such an offensively loaded team, coach Stabile, who was an assistant coach at the University of South Florida last year, will have his work cut out for him. In order for Saint Leo to finish at the top of the SSC, their pitchers will have to step forward and prove themselves. "We're looking for our pitching to keep us in the game and let the power and defense win it for us," the first-year coach said in a recent interview. The bats will keep them in games. But the pitching is needed in order to prove themselves the best.



Saint Leo Coaching Staff

The line-up will be led-off by senior Allen Dina. The centerfielder hit .407 last year. Batting second will be senior shortstop Luis Rivera. Last year he was named a Third Team All-American and hit .364 with 51 RBIs. Gifford will hit from his customary third slot and play in the outfield. The Second Team All-American looks to defend his SSC batting crown.

The middle of the line-up is a little muddled due to the power of the team. Look for seniors Jason Linkes and Joel Rosa or Junior Michael Owen to be

Staff Column; Dr. Baglione

Wanted: Students for a free trip to Dallas for a weekend of experiences: seminars from business leaders and students, and free time to explore Dallas. Your contribution: A willingness to learn and apply the skills necessary to succeed in business. You can learn management, organizational, writing, time management, and desk top publishing skills while being paid. In both cases, instead of paying for an education, we will pay you to learn! Sound too good to be true? These position already exist here on campus. After two arduous years of trying to fill them, I do not understand why more students do not participate or recognize the value in them.

Upon graduation, what will separate you from other recent graduates? Certainly, your major and grade point average, yet, maybe more important, practical experience will be the separating factor. Experiences available through the American Marketing Association (AMA) and the school newspaper, The Monarch.

The Saint Leo AMA chapter is a student-run organization, overseen by a faculty advisor. It is an award-winning organization—eight consecutive years—that allows students to meet other students and business professionals while gaining valuable experience. The chapter's two or three most active students earn the right to attend the national AMA meeting held annually in Dallas, all expenses paid!

Working on the Monarch allows you—and the entire campus community—to see your accomplishment. Every Tuesday, the newspaper staff convenes and collaboratively details the next issue. Responsibilities range from writing, to layout and design, to photography, interviewing skills, to distribution, and oversight.

If you were choosing between two candidates with equal credentials, except one participated in the AMA or school newspaper, who would you hire?

Positions are currently available to work on the Monarch: Layout Editor, Staff Writers, and Assistant Photographers. Anyone who is interested should call Kate Bristol 8807.

The Military Psychology Textbook by Dr.Cronin

Dolorosa Kissaka
Staff Writer

The Military Psychology textbook you have been waiting for is ready and right at your fingertips. Congratulations to Dr. Christopher Cronin, Ph.D., the Director and Associate Professor of Psychology at Saint Leo College for the great effort as its editor.

This is the first textbook on Military Psychology and it is "Dedicated to the men and women who serve their country." Many outstanding scholars have contributed to make this text of great benefit to its readers, especially the students at the undergraduate level.

Serving as a concise introduction to the activities of Military Psychologists, the publication is intended to be used as a textbook for college courses. It is also anticipated that it will expand the students' outlook on the Military Psychology field.

For more information, comments or suggestions regarding the text, please contact Dr. Christopher Cronin at the following address: Department of Psychology, MC-2127, P.O. Box 6665, Saint Leo College, Saint Leo Florida, USA, 33574. E-mail address is ccronin@saintleo.edu.

Guest Speaker Talks About a Horrible Experience

George Root
Staff Writer

Sex can be a very beautiful thing. Date rape is the dark side of sex. The scary thing about it is that it's done by someone very close to the victim, like a boyfriend. Don't get me wrong though. Sexual abuse happens to males also. One in eight males is sexually assaulted at one point in his life. Rape is utterly devastating to the victim. It causes depression, self-doubt, and the inability to function in a healthy sex life. Power is the motive behind rape, not sensual pleasure.

Just recently Katie Kessner spoke before a large crowd at Selby auditorium. She told her horrifying tale of date rape that occurred while she attended William and Mary College. It brought tears to the eyes of some audience members. Date Rape is an unignorable reality. More horrifying than the story was the college's inaction when the rape was reported. Katie eventually took the matter to court and won. The feeling of being trapped, Kessner said, is the worst feeling one could ever have. Respect is the key to decreasing date rape. Although the public is becoming increasingly aware of date rape, it will take a stand on the part of women and men both to end it. In closing, NO MEANS NO!

The Monarch Review

A Movie Review of James Cameron's Titanic

Kristina Porter
Staff Writer

James Cameron's Titanic not only sinks as the real Titanic ship did on April 15, 1912; however, it also sails into box office records as one of the most profitable movies ever. While viewing the movie, it is easy to see what the movie world is cheering about. The movie has something for everyone. Romance is there for those who want to make it into a date night movie. Suspense is there for those who go to the movies alone.

The opening scenes of the movie provide us with the modern day search for the wreckage with special dive equipment. The special cameras that are used by the dive team show the ghostly grave of the great ship. The view etched into the memory of this writer is the view of the grand ball room/dining room of the ship. The camera floats through the water as if it were a ghost looking through the doorway to times forever lost to the heart of the ocean. The chandelier of the dining room, still attached to the ceiling, floats in the water as light barely touches it. A shiver will run down your spine as you view this ghostly sight. Not only is the cinematography amazing, but the music is also sensational, and the combination of the two elements creates a spellbinding tale.

> "A great love story, and a great movie."
> -Mike Petrosky

The movie quickly comes to full speed when an elderly Rose Dawson arrives on board the expedition team's ship. Rose is the main character of the movie and is the audience's eyes to the event that changed the fate of the people on the maiden voyage of the Titanic. Rose describes the audience with the events as she experienced them. She is also the narrator of the tender tale of a tragic romance between herself and Jack Dawson. Rose also provides a gripping account of the struggle to survive the sinking of the supposedly unsinkable ship.

Historical facts and figures are also a part of the movie. The Titanic was found two and a half miles below the surface on the ocean floor. Of the two thousand two hundred and two people aboard the ill fated voyage only seven hundred and six survived. Seven hundred

Book Review: The Partner

George Root
Staff Writer

The Partner is vintage John Grisham. The story is set in Ponta Pora, Brazil. Patrick Lanigan is a fugitive who is on the run after stealing ninety million dollars. His past finally catches up with him, when after four years of hiding, he is arrested. Lanigan is brought back to the United States to face numerous charges. Sandy McDermott, who is Lanigan's lawyer, is one of many people who want to know what secrets Patrick is holding back. Although he is in jail, Patrick is still in complete control of his life.

There are several typical Grisham qualities to this book. Of course, Grisham never fails to demonstrate his knowledge of the law, but, in this particular novel, a new element is introduced, geographical prowess.

This legal thriller is gripping from page one and "an irresistible read," according to People magazine.

Six of his prior seven novels have been made into movies. This is "His best-plotted novel yet," according to Kirkus reviews, it is sure to be brought to the screen.

His next book, soon to be out, is The Street Lawyer.

Music Review: The Kenny Wayne Shepard Band - Trouble Is

Chris Downs
Staff Writer

The Kenny Wayne Shepherd Band's sophomore effort, "Trouble Is," features the musical styling of twenty-something guitar player, Kenny Wayne Shepherd. Music industry publications, such as guitar player, have raved about his playing ability since his self-titled debut album hit the shelves in 1995. Kenny's music is deeply rooted in the blues. Armed with a Stratocaster and a wah-wah pedal, he picks up where Jimi Hendrix and Stevie Ray Vaughan left off. On "Trouble Is," Kenny continues to carve out his own identity with funky originals, such as "Slow Ride" and "Somehow, Somewhere, Someway." He also pays homage to some of his influences with covers of Hendrix's "I Don't Live Today," and Dylan's "Everything Is Broken." The album also features guest appearances by legendary harmonica player, James Cotton, and Double Trouble, Stevie Ray's band. So, if you're sick of all the computer-generated disco that's out there and looking for something different, give "Trouble Is" a try. You'll find yourself playing air guitar in no time.

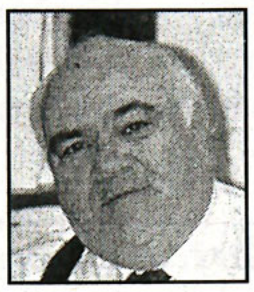
Saint Leo College Welcomes

Mr. William Foley

Kristina Porter
Layout Editor



Dr. William Foley

Saint Leo College has a new Dean of Professional Studies, and he's William T. Foley. Mr. Foley brings a variety of valuable experience to Saint Leo College. Although he is a new dean, he is an experienced teacher and business professional in his field.

When asked for his thoughts on Saint Leo, Foley stated, "I came here primarily because it was a Catholic College, and what I wanted to do was to get involved in the total development of the student. That is the educational and spiritual aspects of development." Foley discussed the way in which teaching styles have changed through the years and a change in the way students are evaluated.

His personal view seems to coincide with the new motto of Saint Leo College: "Learning for living, learning for life." He feels that learning is a life-long process and that it is necessary to keep learning new things due to the fact that the world is

Dr. McInnis, Ph. D.

Dolorosa Kissaka
Staff Writer

Dr. McInnis

Dr. Marguerite McInnis, Ph.D., was born and raised in Gainesville, Florida, and she graduated from Florida State University. She is an Associate Professor of Social Work and a Director of Field Instruction at Saint Leo College. She is currently teaching an internship course to Social Work majors in their senior year of college. She is also teaching students who are doing their pre-internship in Social Work. Twice a semester, she will visit the senior interns at their Social Work sites to make sure they are doing well.

She has wide experience in Family Affairs. She has volunteered and devoted her time to Family Visitation around Florida, during which she has helped and encouraged families to evaluate their relationships. She is conducting research on the same.

Trowbridge Harris

Dolorosa Kissaka
Staff Writer

Trowbridge H. Harris

Trowbridge H. Harris is the Director of the Hospitality and Tourism Management Department. He is back to develop and reinforce a new outlook on the following:

1.Develop new internships

2.Create a monthly newsletter for the department

3.Create a campus club that provides community service and professional programs

4.Arrange for companies to recruit on campus

5.Introduce a college placement program that starts in the first year and continues through the senior year and beyond

6.Revise the entire program to reflect current trends in industry including Marina Management, Retirement Villages, Tourism Management-Convention, meeting placement, and others

7. Other plans will be communicated in the Monthly Newsletter

Mr.Trowbridge sees the student as "the most important person to ever enter these premises. Not dependent on us. We are dependent on the student"

Mr. Ben Donatelli

Kate Bristol
Assistan Editor

Mr. Donatelli

One of the newest editions to Saint Leo faculty is Mr. Ben Donatelli. Mr. Donatelli is the Vice President of Business Affairs.

When asked about his role and duties Donatelli responded, "My first assignment is to get this new information system installed, and, after that, my goal is to improve the Business Affairs Department in order to make the college more efficient."

Mr. Donatelli is not inexperienced working with Dr. Kirk, the President of Saint Leo College. Mr. Donatelli was Dr. Kirk's Chief Financial Officer at Keuka College for six years. Donatelli said, " I think we make a good team; we think a lot alike."

Mr. Donatelli is a husband and father of three. He was born in Conneticut and went to college in New Hampshire where he obtained a bachelor's degree in Sociology with a minor in Business.

Donatelli's hobbies include electric trains, computers, and fishing. Mr. Donatelli's office is on the second floor of Saint Francis Hall, room twenty-eight. His extension is 8215.

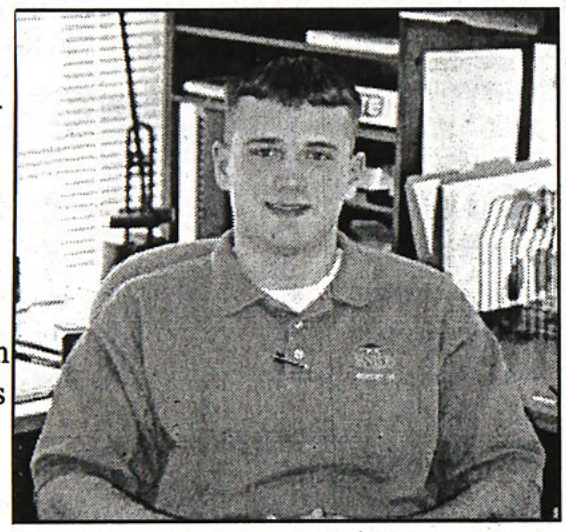
Even More Changes in Residence Life

Chris Downs
Staff Writer

As Bob Dylan would say, "The times are a-changin" in Residence Life. I recently spoke with Interim Director, Jason Zelesky. He said that he and Interim Assistant Director, Kari Knowles, have a new vision for Residence Life. In the past, students have viewed Residence Life staff members as unapproachable people who they can only turn to in times of crisis. The new mission of Residence Life, Jason said, is to improve the image of R.A.s (Resident Assistants) and "put students first."

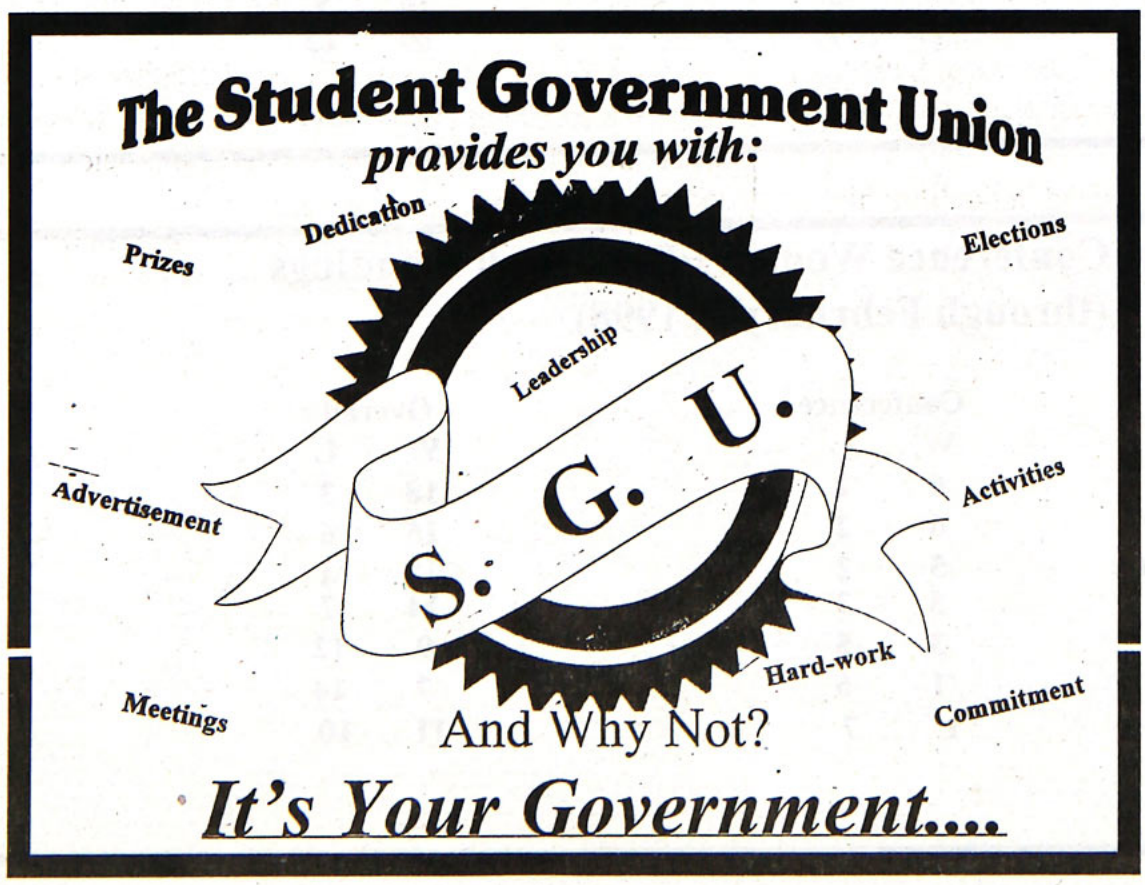


Jason Zelesky, Interim Director of Residence Life

He emphasized that the Residence Life Office is full of approachable people, and students should feel free to ask questions or voice concerns when they first arise. As he put it, "I'd like to hear from people at times when they're not in crisis. I invite students to come by the office and express opinions or give feedback." In keeping with their new vision, Residence Life is changing the application process for R.A.s. Prospective R.A.s are now required to submit a resume and letter of intent with their applications. Jason explained that this alteration is intended to make the process more professional.

In March, members of the Residence Life staff will attend an employer/ employee convention called the Oshkosh Placement Exchange in search of a new Hall Director for Henderson. For the first time, students will be involved in the interview process. Also, the Student Handbook will be reviewed and selected policies will be revised. As Jason put it, "We will use what worked and change what didn't work."

In the near future, Residence Life will ask the faculty to complete a personal interest survey. The goal of this project is to find ways in which students and faculty members can interact outside the classroom. Finally, over the summer, Residence Life will reexamine the issue of front desk duty. Jason said that, eventually, he would like to staff all front desks during high-traffic hours. He wants them to become dependable resources for students. Jason went on to explain that desk duty in Benoit and Henderson was recently consolidated in an effort to develop a greater sense of community on the East Side of campus. The goal was to provide an opportunity for residents in both halls to interact on a regular basis. Jason said he would like the residents in Benoit and Henderson to think of themselves as living in one building instead of two.



A Diffrent Kind of College

Kristina Porter
Staff Writer

Weekend College is described in the Saint Leo College Catalog as "... a time-intensive scheduling of regular credit courses offered on Saturdays and Sundays." Dr. Robert Imperato (Dean of Liberal Arts and Sciences) has taught in the program since 1986. When asked about Weekend College Program students, Dr. Imperato stated, "The students are highly motivated." He considers the staff and faculty dedicated people who can be counted on to make the program work well.

The Weekend College Program staff, and faculty, directed by Mr. Philip McClung, work extremely hard to serve the needs of a diverse group of students.

New adjunct professors to the Program are Dr. Michelle Schuele, Ph. D. and Dr. Pamela Edens, Ph. D. Schuele received her B.A. Degree from Florida Atlantic University in Boca Raton. After Florida Atlantic University, she earned a M.A. Degree in Sports Psychology from John F. Kennedy University in California. Schuele graduated with a Ph.D. in Educational Psychology from Florida State University, and she now teaches a class during the week called Sports Psychology, along with one on the weekends.

Dr. Pamela Edens, Ph. D., earned her B.A. Degree from the University of Notre Dame, and a Master's Degree as well as her Ph.D. from Texas A&M University. Dr. Edens' area of specialty is Industrial Organization Psychology. Industrial Organizational Psychology is the application of psychology to business. Dr. Edens stated during the interview that she enjoys the opportunity to teach, and she is impressed with the concept of the Weekend College Program.

Student and Staff Assistant, Ms. Denise Bandy, discussed what it is like to be a Weekend College student. She is a Computer Information Specialist major at Saint Leo. Bandy has taken other classes in the past at other colleges, and she finds that the Weekend College Program professors are more interactive with the students as opposed to her past experience of taking classes at a traditional college. About her experience in the program Bandy states, "I find you get a bigger range of people in the weekend college classes than you do on campus; you get them from all walks of life and all ages."

Weekend College centers on the non-traditional student to provide the best possible experience and a high quality of education.

Sports Profiles

Shawn Wilson: Basketball

Sean Golden
Sports Editor

Shawn Wilson has been a major asset to the Saint Leo College Men's Basketball Team this season. He is among the top ten in the Sunshine State Conference in scoring (1st- 21.2 points per game); rebounding (3rd - 8.1 boards per game average); field goal percentage (7th - .502 average); steals (5th - 2.0 per game); and blocks (9th -.77 per game). Shawn feels "real good about the season. We have had our ups and downs this season. The team is much more into everything. We are learning from out mistakes."

Shawn Wilson

After he is finished with college, Shawn would like to play or coach basketball professionally for a few years. And, if that does not happen he would like to go into architecture.

Since coming to Saint Leo, Shawn has been part of the First All-Sunshine State Conference Team and was named as the Most Valuable Player of the Monarchs (freshman season). This year, he has been the Conference Player of the Week two times and Conference Player of the Month once.

Kelly Kohn: Basketball

Justin Godfrey
Photography Editor

This year's Women's Basketball team has surprised everyone by playing to a record of 12-6. It should be no surprise that Junior Kelly Kohn is among the national leaders in assists. At the time of publication, she was tied for 7th in the nation and second in the Sunshine State Conference in that category. Yet she credits her teammates with her success. "Everybody is working hard. And when that happens, it's pretty easy to be a point guard."

Kelly Kohn

Kohn transferred to Saint Leo last year from Brewton-Parker College in Georgia where she was named to the Georgia Athletic Conference All-Freshmen Team.

In order to perpetuate the team's success, she displays team spirit that has propelled the team so far. "This year we are returning 6 players and five of them are starters. We're all in this together, and nobody can do it alone."

Despite only having 8 players on the team, Kohn still thinks they can continue their winning ways, "Having only 8 players can make it difficult, yet it makes us work harder. If we play together nobody can beat us."

Softball Team is Making Changes

Sean Golden
Sports Editor

What a difference a year and a good recruiting class makes to a team. The Saint Leo Softball Team has made many new changes. Coach Wade says that "This will not be a major rebuilding plan becaue these changes will take effect immediately." Five of the six newcomers are junior transfer students. The sixth newcomer was one of the top recruits from the Tampa Bay area.

The pitching scenario is a lot different than that of last season. Anne Freeburg, who broke a record last year, while starting in 54 games, will see limited action on the hill from this season, but will be competing for a spot in the outfield. On the mound this season will be Desiree Corteau a freshman pitcher from Land O'Lakes High School where she was two time Pasco County Player of the Year. Also on the mound this season will be Dina Walters who transfered to Saint Leo from St. Petersburg Junior College.

> "This will not be a major rebuilding plan because these changes will take effect immediately."
> -Coach Wade

Competing with Freeburg in the outfield will be Audry Friedland, a freshman transfer from Brooksville, where she was a three-time All-County selection and was named 1996 Player of the Year at Hernando High School. Also in the outfield is freshman Jennifer Mobly, who earned All Conference honors at Ridgewood High School in New Port Richey. Returners Jacquelyn Brown, Karen Nallette, and Stephanie McKnight add depth to the Monarch Outfield.

The Monarch infield will be anchored once again by three year starter Heather Biggs. She hit .318 and scored 12 runs in just 29 games. Being the only player on team with more than two years experience on the Monarchs, she will be looked upon for leadership. Joining Biggs on the right side of the infield will be Elizabeth Catrette who hit .259 for the Monarchs last season. She had the second highest fielding percentage on the team, .960. Filling the left side of the infield will be the most difficult task.

Girl's Tennis Off to a Good Start

Sean Golden

The Saint Leo Men's and Women's Tennis seasons are underway. The women played an exhibition match against a team from Hillsborough Community College. The doubles teams of Stephanie Harris and Britt Patriache; Jill Dascoli and Julie O'Brien; and Kathleen Houtsma and Megan Houtsma swept their opponents in doubles. In single play, Patriache, Dascoli, O'Brien, M. Houtsma and K. Houtsma won their matches.

The women's next opponent was Sunshine State Conference rival, University of Tampa. Saint Leo won the match by a score of 8-1. Doubles was another sweep. Patriache, Dascoli, O'Brien, K. Houtsma, and M. Houtsma all defeated their opponents in singles play.

The men's team opened up with a match against St. Thomas University. Tony Skidmore, Felipe Esteves, and Mark Falor won their matches in singles. The match was called due to darkness.

SAINT LEO ABBEY

From the Sports Desk

Sean Golden
Sports Editor

During the Holiday Season, great controversies come about concerning college football. Usually people are arguing about who should be the number one team in the USA Today Coaches Poll or the Associated Press Poll. This year, just like always, who should be the number one team in the country, Michigan or Nebraska? College football fans, coaches, and the media all have different opinions. In deciding who is number one, fans argue about who has the tougher schedule, what players did what with what team. Of course all these people are experts. They are right, and everyone else is wrong. Each of these people believe one of the two polls are better.

Next season, the Super Alliance is supposed to start. Finally the number one team will play the number two team in one of the bowl games. Each year the location of the game will be in a different stadium according to the alliance agreement. What happens if there are three teams in college football that are undefeated? The controversy starts all over again. Who should be number one, two, or three in the race for the national championship?

The answer is quite easy. A playoff system should be put into affect. The top eight teams in the Coaches' Poll should be put into a tournament. The games would be played 1 vs. 8; 2 vs. 7; 3 vs. 6; 4 vs. 5.

For now, College Football will stay the same. The question will always be "Who should be number one? Who has the tougher schedule?" All we can do is sit back and enjoy the game.

SAINT LEO'S #1 NATIONAL AWARD WINNING STUDENT ORGANIZATION

The Saint Leo American Marketing Association (AMA) chapter is a student-run organization, overseen by a faculty advisor. It is an award-winning organization—eight consecutive years—that allows students to meet other students and business professionals while gaining valuable experience in preparing for future careers.

MAKE VALUABLE PROFESSIONAL CONTACTS

The Saint Leo AMA provides on-campus monthly speakers from the business community. It also participates in the Tampa business chapter of the AMA which has several hundred business members. The Saint Leo AMA pays for the most active students to accompany the faculty advisor to the business chapter's monthly dinner/seminar on current business projects. Recent speakers included representatives for the Wonderbra, Bausch and Lomb, and USAir.

CAREER PREPARATION

The chapter's two or three most active students earn the right to attend the national AMA meeting held annually in Dallas, all expenses paid!! To raise funds for the trip and other projects, the Saint Leo AMA sells Care Packages to parents for students during finals week, provides a canteen for faculty and staff, sells the advertising in the Saint Leo student newspaper "The Monarch," and sells Saint Leo logo watches and clocks. The result: You will learn about personal selling, advertising layout and design, mail order, budgeting, and inter-personal skills. In general, skills necessary to succeed in any career. If elected a chapter officer, you will be responsible for an organization with over 25 members and an annual budget of over $8,000.

FULL- AND PART-TIME JOBS

Through the business chapter of the AMA and monthly speakers, the Saint Leo AMA can help locate internships and full-time positions for you after graduation. You may also list your resume with the Tampa business chapter of the AMA for full-time positions.

The Saint Leo AMA is open to all students—not just business majors. It requires no prior experience, only a willingness to learn. To learn more about the Saint Leo AMA contact:
